AKHA OUTREACH FOUNDATION
Chaing Rai, Thailand

MINISTRY

Paul and Lori Vernon are serving in Thailand as missionaries to the Akha people of Southeast Asia. Their goal is to minister holistically to the spiritual, emotional and physical needs of the Akha people, a traditionally animist culture. Their work includes medical and dental care, evangelistic media production, teaching at an Akha Bible college and building individual discipleship relationships with emerging leaders.

AKHA OUTREACH FOUNDATION

Akha Outreach Foundation was founded in 2001 with the goal of raising up Akha Christian leaders through their three branches of ministry: orphanage for at-risk children, four-year Bible college and church planting, and community development.

- Doors to open for the gospel to be preached among the Akha in the areas where it has never been heard before.
- Unity, maturity and discipleship in the areas where the Akha Church has already been established.
- That the Vernon family would continually be pursuing a deeper relationship with their Father, for strength in their marriage and for wisdom in raising their children.
- Ministry details in recording productions of multiple Akha language gospel films and teaching materials.
